Hoover And British Premier Issue Peace Statement

MACDONALD STARTS ON HOME TRIP

War Between United States And Great Britain Unthinkable, Report Says

WILL REDUCE FLEETS

Prime Minister to Call on Physician in Philadelphia Then Go to N. Y.

BOARD THE PRIME MIN-ISTER'S SPECIAL TRAIN
ENROUTE TO PHILADEL-PHIA, Oct. 10.—(UP)—His mission of peace accomplished and his message of Britain's good-will delivered, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald bade a warm and heartfelt farewell to the capital of the United States today and departed on his long homeward journey to No. 10 Downing street.

The frank sincerity which so captured the imagination of official and unofficial Washington was more apparent than ever in the head of the British labor government today as he said his goodbyes to representatives of President Hoover at the Union station in Washington before leaving for Philadelphia. This sincerity was sensed by the large throng which gathered at the station to get a final glimpse of the prime minister and his charming daughter, Miss Isobel.

His trip to Washington was unofficial and personal. Today he was not the prime minister nor Great Britain's messenger of peace to the United States. Today he was just Ramsay MacDonald, private citizen, enroute to Philadelphia to visit the physician who in 1927, did so much to improve his health.

Visits Physician

On his last trip to the United States MacDonald, here on unofficial business, went to Dr. S.
Solis-Cohen of Philadelphia to be treated for bronchial trouble, at Jefferson hospital. The treatments were so successful that MacDonald never forgot the services performed by the physician.

More was achieved during the goodwill mission of Prime Minister MacDonald than has been officially revealed, according to information in authoritative quarters today.

It is understood President Hoover and the prime minister have reached a lower basis of cruiser tonnage than had been thought possible before MacDonald left London. Details are not known definitely but it is understood the 30,000 tons of cruisers in dispute may be eliminated from the party minimums suggested in negotiations before MacDonald came to the United States. This, if it develops, will be in the direction of actual reduction of authorized building programs sought by President Hoover.

The prime minister and Miss Isobel left Washington today having built up tremendous stores of good will against the time when inevitable controversies may test the patience and forbearance of the two countries.

Issue Statement

President Hoover and the prime minister issued a joint statement declaring the danger of war and

An Orange county site will be one of three locations for a dirigible base on the Pacific coast the dirigible base committee will submit to congress
November 27, according to George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The secretary pointed out that members of the committee had visited the sites in Or-were particularly impressed with the location south of Santa Ana offered by the local chamber of commerce.

Commenting on the possible procedure, Raymer said that following presentation of the sites, congress would either make an immediate selection, or refer them to a congressional committee for recommendation.

COLORADO BANK PRESIDENT TO ENTER PRISON

Telluride Banker Guilty,
He Says When Arraigned
In Federal Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(UP)— Charles Delos Waggoner, Telluride, Colo., banker, pleaded guilty to using the mails to defraud when his case was called in federal court today.

This amount leaves the fund
about $25,000 short of the original $200,000 goal set by the Masons for the campaign. The full $200,000 fund is needed to build and furnish the temple as it has been planned, and it was decided at last night's meeting to quietly continue the fund-raising effort until the full amount is in hand, although intensive operation of the campaign has ceased.

George S. Smith, general campaign chairman, complimented the workers highly and said that the campaign must be considered a wonderful achievement no matter from what angle it is viewed.

Charles F. Mitchell, who acted as vice chairman of the team organization, and Mrs. Fannie E. Reeves, chairman of the campaign women's division, likewise expressed complete satisfaction with results attained.

Permanent possession of three large silver loving cups was awarded to the teams which did the most effective work in the campaign. Team No. 3 of the women's division, captained by Mrs. Hervey T.
Trueblood, was awarded one cup for securing the largest percentage of its assigned quota.
The team raised more than $10,000 of the fund, which was 162 per cent of the amount requested of it.

The guilty plea came as a distinct surprise, although Waggoner had confessed to his part in the affair in which he played the role of a modern Robin Hood who wanted to save his depositors from loss.

He had been expected to plead emotional insanity and a committee of alienists from both government and defense had examined him.

THREE LOSE LIVES IN TRAIN COLLISION

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 10.— (UP)—Three men were killed today when an eastbound passenger train and a westbound freight collided a half mile east of Portage, Pa.

Pennsylvania railroad officials said the three dead were G. L.
Buckholder, a fireman; W. T.
Johnston, an engineer; and W. C.
Read, an engineer.

At Portage, however, it was reported Walter McClain, of Junction, Pa., and J. C. Howard, of Altoona, Pa., also had been killed although their bodies had not been recovered.

Railroad officials, who ordered
an investigation, said the passenger train, a Washington-Wilkes Barre express, went through Portage on track number two, instead of number one as customarily.

NORTHERN PACIFIC SEEKS RAIL PERMIT

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 10.—
(UP)—The Northern Pacific railway has applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to extend its line in Montana from Brockway to Lewiston, Charles Donnelly, president of the company, announced today.

Present plans for the project
call for the construction of 149
miles of track at an estimated cost of $6,000,000. The Northern Pacific, according to the application, will seek to make arrangements with the St. Paul road for use of its tracks between Winnett and Lewiston on the proposed line.

MASON'S DRIVE FOR FUNDS TO BE CONTINUED

Campaign, However, Will Be Conducted Quietly
For Remainder

INTENSIVE EFFORTS of the Masonic fraternity to secure a building fund for the construction of a new Masonic temple at Fifth and Sycamore streets in this city came to an official close last night when final reports of the campaign workers were turned in at a dinner in the Masonic temple.
The fund has reached the total of $175,010.

This amount leaves the fund
about $25,000 short of the original $200,000 goal set by the Masons for
the campaign. The full $200,000

EUROPE-CALIFORNIA FLIGHT PROJECTED

SANTA MARIA, Calif., Oct. 10.—
(UP)—After conferring with Capt.
G. Allan Hancock, owner of Santa Maria Airlines, Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, who piloted the airplane "Southern Cross" from Oakland to Australia, announced today that plans are being made for a flight from Europe to Santa Maria.

If plans work out, C. P. Ulm, who accompanied him on the Oakland to Australia flight, and J. W. Litchfield and John MacWilliams, who made the flight from Australia to England, will make the trip with Kingsford-Smith from Europe to California.

The flyer said that the trans-Atlantic and transcontinental jumps would be undertaken just as soon as necessary financial backing is received.

Railroad officials, who ordered
an investigation, said the passenger train, a Washington-Wilkes
Barre express, went through Port-

Story Of Rescue At Sea Revealed As Ship Arrives

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—
(UP)—The story of a thrilling early morning rescue after drifting at sea for more than 20 hours was told here today by 17 men and two women, survivors of the sinking of the schooner Bretagne off the coast of Oregon.

Capt. Leo Ozanne, his wife, daughter, son and 15 crewmen, were brought to Los Angeles harbor aboard the lumber schooner
Whitney Olson, whose mate, J. L.
M. Hendrikson, spotted the gleam of a flashlight which Captain Ozanne was using as a signal.

The Bretagne sank last Saturday, 20 minutes after a leak was discovered as it got underway to the South Sea Islands with a cargo of lumber. There was scarcely time to launch the boat in which Captain Ozanne and his party escaped.

Present plans for the project
call for the construction of 149

of $6,000,000. The Northern Pa-

RESIGNS POST

Louis W. Hill today retired as chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railroad. He is a son of the late "Empire builder" James J. Hill.

HILL RETIRES AS LEADER OF G. N. RAILROAD

Son of "Empire Builder" to Write History of Father, Then Rest

C. T. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 10.—(UP)

Louis W. Hill, chairman of the board of the Great Northern railroad and eldest son of the late James J. Hill, "empire builder," resigned from his post here today at the annual meeting of the board of directors.

The resignation was accepted and the position Hill held since 1912 was abolished. Other officers were re-elected.

Hill, who is 56, declared that henceforth he would spend his time with his wife and family traveling, hunting, fishing, collecting pictures and writing an intimate biography of his father.

The rail leader and financier declared that much of his leisure time would be devoted to writing a biography of his father which will contain personal and intimate bits hitherto untouched by the biograph-ers.

Collection of paintings, hunting, fishing and travel also will be on the rest program, Hill said.

Louis Hill began his long career with the Great Northern upon his graduation from Yale in 1893. He started as a billing clerk and worked up through the various departments until he succeeded his father as president in 1907.

When Carl Gray, now president of the Union Pacific railway, was made president of the Great Northern in 1912 Hill became chairman of the board which post he has held since.

"I have been in the harness for 26 years," Hill said, "and I feel I deserve a rest. I want to spend more time with my wife and family. I want to travel."

"Years ago my father told me that I must retire when I reached the age of 40. That time was passed 16 years ago but circumstances prevented my resignation until now. The way is open today to do as I desire and I shall present my resignation."

RUSSIAN AVIATORS TAKE OFF FRIDAY

SEATTLE, Oct. 10.—Four Russian flyers of the plane "Land of the Soviets" probably will be ready to take off in the flight that will bring them to the United States tomorrow. Installation of a new motor was expected to be completed by then.

The craft was forced down last week near Craig, Alaska, on a flight from Sitka. They are bound from Moscow to New York and Seattle is the next city to be visited.

The new motor was taken to the plane by the coast guard cutter Cy-an and members of the crew were aiding the installation.

Mother in Hospital Following Auto Accident in Anaheim Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—(UP)—

One small boy was killed and another was horribly mangled and the mother of the dead youth is in the hospital in a critical condition and not expected to live, as the result of two automobile acidents in the northern part of the county yesterday.

William Kelley, 4 years old, was killed instantly when the machine in which he was riding with his mother, Mrs. A. J. Kelley of 529
West French street, Fullerton, collided with an automobile driven by H. M. Peterson, who resided near Anaheim, at 8:30 o'clock last night at the intersection of the Katella road and Palm avenue.

The cars were virtually demolished in the wreck, the small coupe in which the boy and his mother rode being overturned. Mrs. Kelley was rushed to the California hospital at Anaheim, where it was said she suffered a fractured skull and severe internal injuries.

OIL OPERATORS TO CONFER FRIDAY ON GAS CONSERVATION

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—(UP)

A meeting of independent oil operators of Southern California will be held tomorrow afternoon to consider the amended plan for cooperation of major and minor oil operators in carrying out gas conservation.

One of the most important matters before tomorrow's meeting will be the election of seven members to sit with seven representatives of the major oil companies on the managerial board, which will direct the plan of gas conservation.

The independents' executive committee has met several times with major oil company executives working out a compromise relative to remuneration for the minor operators for their share of the plan.

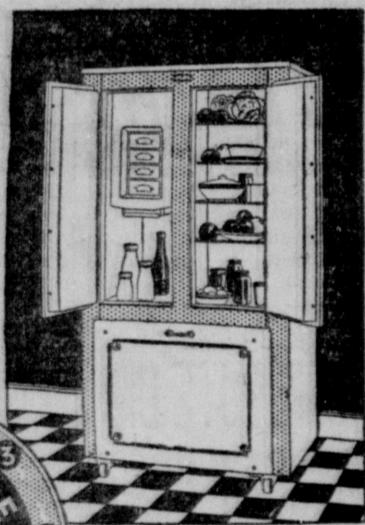

The original plan did not take this phase into consideration and it has caused much agitation on the part of the independents.

SUPERVISOR MITCHELL GIVES ALIBI FOR HUDDLES AND FOR CHAS. CARRILLO'S WHITEWASH

Supervisor Mitchell stated that it appeared to him that the policy of J. Frank Burke, editor of the Register, in the Carrillo case and in the flood control controversy was designed purely for the purpose of discrediting the board of supervisors and tearing down the county government. He said that Burke meant no more to him than any other one man and that although he reached thousands of people with his editorials, it should be remembered that these express simply the opinion of one man.

In referring to huddles Mitchell said that every board of supervisors in the state had a committee room in which it thrashed problems which should not be discussed publicly because they would create misunderstanding.

In his remarks about Mrs. Arevalos Supervisor Mitchell probably forgot that she prefaced all her testimony by saying that she was afraid to tell the truth because of intimidation in her family.

He probably forgot that the hearing was not a criminal trial but only an attempt to find out if Carrillo was a fit man to hold office. He probably forgot that the supervisors were conducting an investigation and that he could have asked Mrs. Arevalos why she did not tell on the witness stand the same story she told him in his home. He probably forgot that he could have asked her which was the true story.

Mitchell apparently forgot, when he said that none of the charges had been proved, that much of the testimony against Carrillo never was denied. He may have forgotten that Lino Parra, of Santa Ana, testified that for $2 he got a temporary driver's license from Carrillo at his home, when no traffic or other officers were present, and that he got the license without an examination.

He probably forgot that Jose Becerra of Talbert, said he paid Carrillo $9 for getting him out of jail, that he took the matter before the district attorney, and that no one denied this testimony.

He probably forgot that Mrs. Gaspar Reyes, of Delhi, testified that she could not read or write and that Carrillo took her hand and forced her to sign a paper that she did not know the character of.

He probably forgot that Carrillo admitted taking a fee of $2 from one Mexican to visit another in jail, a privilege which may be granted but is not for sale.

He probably forgot that Mrs. Olive Johnston, postmistress at Delhi, was asked by Carrillo if she knew people in Delhi owning stills, and that Carrillo offered to "split fifty-fifty with her," and that Carrillo did not deny this testimony.

A common agreement which would justify each in making substantial

Co-operation Needed

An agreement on naval armaments cannot be completed without the co-operation of other naval powers, and both of us feel sure that, by the same free and candid discussion of needs which has characterized understandings will be reached as will make naval agreement next January possible, and thus remove this serious obstacle to the progress of world disarmament.

Between now and the meeting of the proposed conference in January, our governments will continue conversations with the other powers concerned, in order to remove as many difficulties as possible before the official and formal negotiations open.

In view of the security afforded by the peace pact, we have been able to end, we trust forever, all competitive building between ourselves with the risk of war and the waste of public money involved, by agreeing to a parity of fleets, category by category.

Success at the coming conference will result in a large decrease in the naval equipment of the world, and what is equally important, the reduction of prospective programs of construction which otherwise would produce competitive building to an indefinite amount.

We hope and believe that the steps we have taken will be welcomed warmly by the people whom we represent as a substantial contribution to the efforts universally made by all nations to gain security for peace—not by military organization—but by peaceful means rooted in public opinion and enforced by a sense of justice in the civilized world.

In signing the Paris peace pact fifty-six nations have declared that war shall not be used as an instrument of national policy. We have agreed that all disputes shall be settled by pacific means. Both our governments resolved to accept the peace pact not only as a declaration of good intentions, but as a positive obligation to direct national policy in accordance with its pledge.

The part of each of our governments in the promotion of world peace will be different, as one never will consent to become entangled in European diplomacy and the other is resolved to pursue a policy of active co-operation with its European neighbors. But each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence toward securing and maintaining the peace of the world.

NEW COURSE LAID DOWN
Our conversations have been largely confined to the mutual relations of the two countries in the light of the situation created by the signing of the peace pact. Therefore, in a new and reinforced sense the two governments not only declare that war between them is unthinkable, but that distrusts and suspicions arising from doubts and fears which may have been justified before the peace pact now must cease to influence national policy.

We approach old historical problems from a new angle and in a new atmosphere, on the assumption that war between us is banished, and that conflicts between our military or naval forces cannot take place, these problems have changed their meaning and character, and their solution, in ways satisfactory to both countries has become possible.

We have agreed that those questions should become the subject of active consideration between us. They involve important technical matters requiring detailed study. One of the hopeful results of the visit which now is terminating officially has been that our two governments will begin conversations upon them following the same method as that which has been pursued during the summer in London.

The exchange of views on naval reduction has brought the two nations so close to agreement that the obstacles in previous conferences arising out of Anglo-American disagreements seem now substantially removed. We have kept the nations which took part in the Washington naval conference of 1922 informed of the progress of our conversations and we have now proposed to them that we all should meet together and try to come to gation, the truck was not stopped until after it had gone 285 feet after striking the youth and that it travelled a distance of 165 feet off the road, before being turned back onto the pavement, indicating that the boy and his sister were walking on the shoulder of the road at the time the youth was struck.

Perkins was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning on the charge of reckless driving and his preliminary examination set for October 25 at 9 a. m.

Team No. 3 of the men's division, with Roscoe Hewitt as captain, was given a cup for securing the greatest percentage among the men's teams. The team raised more than $13,000, or 99.8 per cent of its quota.

The third cup was presented to Team No. 4 of the men's division, captained by Orson Hunter, for turning in the largest number of pledges during the campaign. More than 100 individual subscriptions were reported by this team and its members raised nearly $16,000 of the fund.

Chairman Smith on behalf of campaign officials and the Temple association, congratulated and thanked the firm of E. Franklin Bandy and company of San Francisco, who had charge of the details of the campaign, commenting particularly upon the economy with which the program was handled. The local campaign was directed by E. F. Bandy, president of the company, and Joseph Nate, Jr.

Chairman Smith also extended the thanks and appreciation of the fraternity to the local press for its sympathetic presentation of the movement to the public.

Short talks were made by L. L. Whitson, chairman of the building committee, who assured the campaign workers that a new temple could now be built as a result of their efforts and expressed the hope that over a period of months the additional $25,000 needed would be secured so that no alteration of the original complete building plans would be necessary.

Alex. Brownridge, campaign treasurer, spoke briefly, explaining that funds collected in the campaign will be deposited in the banks of this city upon which they are drawn. He also thanked a corps of volunteer auditors who have officially audited the campaign totals from day to day under his direction, composed of E. H. Richards, E. T. McFadden, R. F. Ware, Jack Bascom, and T. G. Carlson.

As a result of the campaign Santa Ana is assured another splendid structure in the heart of the city, and one of the finest Masonic temples in California. The temple will be built within a year.

Perkins made a report at the sheriff's office to the effect that he went to sleep at the wheel of his truck, allowing it to run off on the shoulder of the road, striking the youth as he and his sister, Evelyn, 14 years old, were walking to school at Garden Grove. Young Ten Naple is a pupil in the seventh grade at the Garden Grove grammar school.

The boy was rushed to the Anaheim hospital, his leg so severely crushed that physician today were contemplating amputation. Loss of much blood before the youth reached the hospital, made his condition worse serious. It was declared.

POSTPONE DECISION IN MINISTER'S CASE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—(UPI)—The decision of the three jurists who heard contempt proceedings against the Rev. R. P. Shuler and the Rev. Gustav Bruegel in connection with statements made by the ministers during the Mrs. Lois Pantages murder trial probably will not be handed down until next week.

Three attorneys who presented the evidence against the pastors asked that the verdict be delayed until after the annual meeting of the California Bar association in Monterey.

LOOK—DAGGERS!

A chic ensemble of green suede shoes, purse and hat sing a Spanish theme song of swashbuckling pirates in their dashing use of little gold daggers that slide into gold sheaths for fastenings. The straps on the shoes are dagger-shaped, too, to heighten the effect. But the heels are on the square, a new and interesting cut. These accessories from the Shoecraft Salon are an especially happy choice when worn with this tweed winter suit with deep cuffs and very smart collar of nutria from Eldridge and Garson.

PRIVATE SECRETARY
KEEPS FIT WITH FLAXOLYN

Popular Hollywood Executive Secretary
Prepares for Daily Work by Using Herbal Flaxolyn

SALLY UNTERS
Universal Studios, Hollywood, Calif.

There are four things which science says you must have to be normally strong, well and fully developed. These four things are keen appetite, healthy digestion, restful sleep and regular bowel action.

If you are weak, flabby, pale, easily exhausted or feel lacking in ambition and thinking power and want that energy and pep which wins business and social success, you are no doubt deficient in one or more of the above functions. You should try the Flaxolyn combination of herbs at once!

Read what this well known secretary writes to Dr. Luntz:

"Most heartily endorse FLAXOLYN—It has done wonders for me. For some time I was secretary to Max Rabinoff, who is quite an international figure in the musical world, and my duties kept me working at my desk from 9 in the morning until late, helping him interview as many as 50 people in a day. At the end of the day my nerves were pretty well unstrung and I had the usual headaches, upset stomach and a general ill feeling which was a great strain on my constitution.

"Flaxolyn has helped me wonderfully to overcome that condition. It restored my rested feeling. Am now secretary to one of the important executives of the Universal Pictures Studio, which necessitates sticking pretty close to my work. But, thanks to Flaxolyn, the feeling of energy and pep is always with me, and natural sleep following, I am ready to start the day fresh and feeling fine.

"I repeat again that Flaxolyn has done wonders for me and I cordially recommend it to both young as well as old people for the marvelous tonic effect it has on me.

Miss Unter's case is only one of thousands which have been treated successfully by Flaxolyn, the natural health discovery.

Flaxolyn contains nothing else but derivatives of nature. In fact, the minute you taste these natural herbs, roots and barks, your own instinct will tell you that here is the real road to health and natural attractiveness.

NEW OUTLOOK ON LIFE

Don't wait. If you suffer from stomach distress constantly, if toxic poisons are causing poor blood, weakened condition, loss of sleep and vitality, act at once. Flaxolyn is different from anything you have used before, because it is a natural laxative tonic, not a drug. Note the related "OPEN FORMULA" Not a secret—Nothing to hide. says Dr. Harris H. Luntz (M.D.)

Roots Flavored—Relaxes constrictions and acts as an astrigent. Vegetable Charcoal—Aids digestion, sweetens the stomach, overcomes acid and gas, purifies undigested fermenting food.

Juniper Berries—Cleanses, purifies and stimulates the kidneys and bladder.

African Ginger Roots—Quenches the flow of the vital digestive juices.

Pandan Roots—Act on the liver and blood.

Cardamon Seeds—Act on the stomach lining as an aromatic cleansing tonic.

Chinese Rhubarb—Invigorates the stomach and the liver.

Spanish Licorice Roots—Remove any foreign mucus that may be clogging and poisoning the digestive organs.

Culver's Roots—Stimulates the natural flow of bile and so purifies the liver.

Gentian Roots—Creates a healthy normal appetite.

Greek Valerian Roots—Tones the nerves and induces the restful sleep of health.

California Bark—Cleanses the colon and removes foreign matter from the intestines.

new energy—the new spring to your step and keenness of eye after you have taken a few Flaxolyn treatments.

FREE DIET ADVICE

Many of the health food stores and druggists who sell Flaxolyn give health and diet advice free. Or you can obtain Dr. Luntz's personal advice. His address appears on every Flaxolyn box. $1.00 a box of many treatments.

Hair Rats Are Gone!
AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Modern woman, freed of the restraint of long tresses, realizes the comfort and sanitation of the bobbed head. The shears in the hands of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE have severed the bonds of another archaic dogma.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

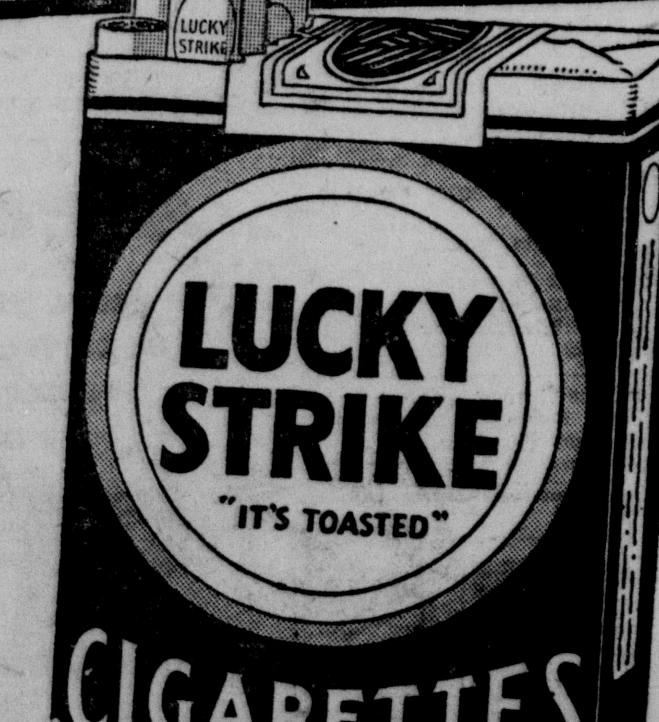

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

MONTGOMERY WARD FASHION SHOW TONIGHT

THEY'LL MODEL TONIGHT'S FASHION SHOW
 Montgomery Ward and company has among its many clerks several attractive young girls who have been pressed into service as models in the Fall Fashion Revue to be given in the store tonight, beginning at 8 o'clock. Rehearsals for the event have been held in the store for the last few nights until the girls are prepared to display the dresses and wraps with the poise of professional models, several of which will come from Los Angeles for the event. Among the store employees who will assist are those pictured. In the upper row, from left to right, are Mrs. H. C. Crouch, wife of the head of the men's ready-to-wear department; Miss Alice Noe and Miss Lillian Duncan. In the lower row, from left to right, are pictured Mrs. Helen Jacobsen and Miss Modine Herndon.

Today's scenes of confusion on the second floor of the Montgomery Ward and company store, at 116 North Broadway, as the large stock of merchandise was moved to a basement storeroom across the street were expected to resolve themselves into complete order long in advance of 7:30 tonight when the store doors will be opened to the public for the first big fall fashion revue ever staged by the company in a city the size of Santa Ana.

Planned by T. B. Strother, under the direction of E. M. Fletcher, store manager, the revue promises to be unusually colorful and entertaining. A stage and runway have been constructed on the second floor, with a green and silver color effect to form harmonious background for the pretty girls in their autumn frocks and wraps. Chairs will take the place of the furniture usually on display on this floor and a large crowd is anticipated to enjoy the offering of new goods and the musical program planned by Strother.

The Cartwright orchestra of this city will play from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, after which the manager will speak briefly in welcome to the audience. Miss LaVerne Harrell Santa Ana soloist, will sing and a group of youthful Radio-Keith-Orpheum artists will present a Kiddies' Dance revue. Prefacing the showing of the styles selected, Mrs. Edna Houtz, head of the women's ready-to-wear department, will talk on the general style trend of the season, with her remarks illustrated by the procession of young models in the pretty frocks and wraps under discussion.

The girls will be dressed in Montgomery Ward products from head to foot, for not only will their dresses and coats be from the store's stock, but hats, shoes, stockings, gloves and hand-bags will be as well. The dresses according to Fletcher, will exemplify the smart styles and good materials possible to obtain at a medium outlay. Styles will be suitable for sports, afternoon or more formal wear. Wraps will vary from plain sports coats to those with fur collars and cuffs.

Those who will model the various styles include the Misses Modine Herndon, Alice Noe, Lillian Duncan, Lillian Harrell, LaVerne Harrell, Ruth Spray, Esther Campbell, Mrs. Helen Jacobsen, Mrs. H. C. Crouch, Mrs. Helen Stucker, and Mrs. H. L. McKague.

Seeks Damages On Automobile Deal

Claiming that a used car was sold to him on the representation that it was new, and asserting that the automobile really had been driven 4000 miles, C. E. Baugh today had brought suit against C. O. Harvey, seeking judgment for $668, cancellation of a $175 note and punitive damages of $1000. The complaint said Baugh was told the car had been driven only 200 miles. It also asserted that the car had been reconditioned and that the speedometer had been turned back in an attempt to make the machine look like a new one.

OWNER OF OIL LAND FILES $10,000 SUIT

Ada L. Butler today had brought suit against J. A. Smith and J. P. Cooney, seeking $10,000 damages for asserted removal of oil well equipment and destruction of oil well on property which she claims at Huntington Beach.

According to the complaint, the property was deeded to the plaintiff by Cooney on June 22 and on October 5 the defendants cemented up the well, started removing the equipment and pulling the casing. The complaint asked a permanent restraining order to prevent further activities of the defendants.

CUBS, MACKS TRAVEL In Last Practice

RECORD CROWD PREDICTED AT PASADENA TILT

HOCKEY
Victorio Campolo claims to hold the world's record for bull-dogging, skinning and dressing a steer—12 minutes. . . . But then, maybe it was a bum steer. . . . Lefty O'Doul says he "wouldn't have hit against left-handers for McGraw," but he has been doing pretty well against 'em for Burt Shotton. . . . Pignras likes the Cubs to win the series. . . . Because the A's have trouble hitting a right-hander with good cross-tire. . . . Ben Paschal says he likes the Athletics. . . . He never has seen the Cubs. . . . Neither have a lot of the other experts. . . . Babe Ruth once asked Harry Frazee of the Red Sox for a raise, saying it cost him a lot to eat. . . . Frazee replied, "You hit the homers and I'll feed you." . . . So Harry gave him a contract for three years at $10,000 a season.

UNSUNG HEROES

"Stop Cagle!" will be the cry from many of the Army's opponents on the gridiron this fall.

That should be amplified; the shout should be, "Stop Murrell and Cagle!" For, if they don't stop Murrell, there's not a great deal of likelihood of stopping the Redhead.

Which is to say, a star often is no better than his interference, though the man who takes out the defensive players gets little credit; it takes two players to make a star.

Britton took the bad boys out of Red Grange's way. Ed Hill cleared the paths for Ken Strong. Miles dumped them for Wittmer.

Wise coaches know how to take advantage of the enemy's desire to stop a star. Another man is designated to do the running, with the star running interference. Thus, in the Dartmouth - Harvard game last year, the Crimson concentrated on halting Marsters, and Wolff ran wild. The Army concentrated on halting Garvey of Yale and Loud sprinted all over the place.

COQUETTISH MR. KUKAUSKA
Ring-siders who thought Tommy Loughnane goofy after taking one on the Van Dyke from Mr. Kukauskas (Jack Sharkey) the other night, must have lost their wonder in watching the antics of the Great-Eye man from Boston after Lou Magnolia called off the stuff.

Sharkey actually danced a jig in the center of the ring. He took coquettish swings at fat little Johnny Buckley, his manager, and at Tony Palozolo, trainer.

Then, to top it all off he flitted around the ring, shadow-boxing, smiling at the customers, wheeling, leaping. It was all very beautiful. But it made us wonder if Loughnane was the goofiest guy there, after all.

THEM HISSED TILDEN

They hissed Tilden during some of his matches at Newport. In the battle for the national singles championship, parts of the gallery did everything but toss dormicks at him, aroused by what appeared to be his unsportsmanlike tactics.

In behalf of Big Bill, let it be said that in the 10 years that he has been packing 'em in at tennis battles, it cannot be said that he ever failed to give the fans their money's worth of tennis. He is the greatest showman of the courts. None, except perhaps Red Mac MacLoughlin, has been able to play upon the feelings of tennis galleries as has Tilden. The drama is a part of him, and it shows both on and off the courts.

A'S HAPPY, CUBS IRRITABLE; ROOT WILL PITCH TOMORROW

ABOARD BASEBALL SPECIAL, En Route to Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Two ball clubs were speeding Eastward today to resume the world series of 1929, interrupted for a day of travel between Chicago and Philadelphia.

One club, the Philadelphia Athletics, was a happy, harmonious, even hilarious group, slapping on another on the back and looking forward to the day when the checks representing the winner's share of the world series profits would be handed out.

The other club, the Chicago Cubs, proved a morose and downcast lot. Rogers Hornsby sat off by himself, scanning a racing form with a scowl. The players were irritable.

McCarthy now has tried all six of his regular pitchers, without finding one who looks like a winner. Connie Mack, on the other hand, has used three hurlers, each of whom appeared good enough to stop the Cubs in any given game. And Connie still has such able performers as "Rube" Walberg and John Picus Quinn, waiting to be tried.

McCarthy may send Charlie Root back against the Mackmen tomorrow for Root was getting along pretty nicely on Tuesday until Jimmy Foxx slammed a home run into the center field bleachers.

ACE HUDDINS, HARD AT WORK IN TRAINING CAMP, SAYS HE WILL STOP CHAMPION WALKER

Feeling full of fight as a panther, and the personification of confidence, Ace Hudkins at his training camp on the Bastanchury ranch near Brea today predicted that he would not only take Walker in the bout at Wrigley field October 29, but that he would knock him out.

DONS WORK ON PASS DEFENSE FOR PASADENA

By "SKY" DUNLAP

Passes, passes and more passes

will be flying around the football field at Santa Ana junior college between now and Saturday, but instead of trying to catch them, the Don pigskinners will concentrate on knocking them down and preventing them from being caught.

Preparing for the first conference struggle, Coach Bill Cook will attempt to build a defense for the famed aerial attack which will be seen Saturday when the champion Pasadena eleven invades Poly field.

Passes have proved to be the "Waterloo" for the Dons in years past against Pasadena. In 1928, the score was 12 to 8 for Pasadena while in 1927, two long Pasadena passes tied the score at 12-all.

Blanchard Beatty, former Don backfield act, will figure prominently in the plans Cook is formulating. Beatty can pass the pigskin 50 yards and Cook will put him on his second string to throw passes for his secondary defense to knock down, if possible.

A change or two in the Don line-up and indicative performances are miking the railbirds sit up and take notice. Whether Frank Miles, husky tackle, will try his hand at center remains to be seen. Yesterday, Frank snapped the ball a good deal but will have a hard time to replace Al Kluthe and Sam Griswold, the two incumbents.

In the backfield, Franklin Van Meter will have to keep moving or have his halfback berth taken over by a host of promising candidates. Van Meter shows a weakness against passes and several of his more fleet brethren may win his job. Wayne Garlock, Jack Rimmel, Carol Bertolo, Charles Andres and Raymond Glesner would be only too glad to have a finger in the pie.

Jack Dutton, fullback, is coming along at a great rate, both at ball carrying and kicking. He was dropkicking the ball over the bars from 30 yards consistently yesterday.

"Red" Manderscheid, Cook's other fullback, has rejoined the Dons, leaving only one player on the sidelines, Orville Schuchardt, who broke his foot in the Phoenix test last Saturday and will be out for the rest of the season.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Al Slinger, Bronx featherweight, will enter the 2 to 1 favorite to beat Leonard Zazzarino in their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday. Zazzarino's supporters are betting on their favorite to win by a knockout.

BERKELEY, Oct. 10.—Coach "Nibs" Price is expected to start new backfield combination composed of Lom, Barr, Schilting and Hickington when the Bears go against W. S. C. Saturday in their first conference game of the season. The Cougars, under Coach "Babe" Hollingsberry, are due to arrive here today.

MACK ARRIVES IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—Lefty Mack, Denver collegian, arrived here last night for his bout with Ignacio Fernandez next Tuesday night. This will be Fernandez's last bout here before leaving for New York for a return match with Al Slinger, whom he knocked out a few months ago. Plans are also under way for a Mack-Tony Canzoneri rematch here.

JOE McCARTHY

Joe McCarthy, resourceful manager of the Chicago Cubs, has done in four years what many managers would fail to accomplish during a lifetime, the winning of a big league pennant. . . . Came to the majors direct from the minors, where he had always been very successful. . . . Didn't have much of a team left him and started immediately to rebuild by getting rid of the dead wood and supplanting it with new timber. . . . Early in his career, he was called upon to make a drastic decision that many thought might abruptly end his career. . . . His star pitcher was Grover Cleveland Alexander. . . . It seems that McCarthy soon discovered that Alexander didn't take his orders seriously and was also rather lax as to training. . . . One day the wires carried the story that Alexander had been indefinitely suspended. . . . It took nerve for a bush leaguer to give the gate to the star of his team. . . . However, that is just the kind of a manager McCarthy is. . . . He later announced that he and Alexander didn't fit on the same team and that either one would have to go. . . . Alexander was later sent to St. Louis and McCarthy stayed. . . . That act established McCarthy with his players, for they realized he was going to run the team and brook no opposition. . . . As a fighter of the old school, never knows when he is licked and has inspired his club with the same spirit. . . . You can give much of the credit for the Cub's great showing to Joe McCarthy and not be far from being absolutely correct.

CONNIE MACK

After 15 years, the patience of Connie Mack has finally been rewarded with a pennant. . . . Winning the world championship from the Chicago Cubs would leave nothing to be desired. . . . Back in 1914, Mack led one of the greatest teams of all time to an American league championship. . . . Pitted against the Boston Braves in the world series, his team was a heavy favorite. . . . Many of the critics picked the Mackmen to take the title in four straight games. . . . That year provided the greatest upset in the history of world series play. . . . Instead of the Mackmen winning in four straight games, it was the Braves who turned the trick. . . . It was a great blow to Mack, as on form there was no comparison between the two clubs. . . . Mack decided to break up his pennant winning combination. . . . No manager ever did such a thing but Mack had the courage of his convictions. . . . He sold most of his stars and started to build over again. . . . It has been a long trail over the 15 years of experimenting necessary to get together his present champs. . . . Mack is a manager of the different type for he is like a father to his boys. . . . Never leaves the bench but slides all over it during the progress of a close game. . . . Directs most of the strategy from the dugout and uses his score card as the medium through which he wiggles his signals. . . . Rumor has it he will retire if successful in beating the Cubs. . . . Eddie Collins is certain to be his successor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Al Slinger, Bronx featherweight, will enter the 2 to 1 favorite to beat Leonard Zazzarino in their 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday. Zazzarino's supporters are betting on their favorite to win by a knockout.

PHILADELPHIA, CHICAGO SPEND DAY ON TRAIN

only to prove himself what he had been on Tuesday—a good gambler. The good gambler, they say, always knows when he is licked and so, when Earsaw, having become chilled while sitting on through the lengthy third and fourth innings, showed signs of being through for the day, Connie didn't hesitate to declare him through.

So much for one facet of this character study. There are many others, including the fact that he sits on the bench and moves his men about with the skill of a chess master; that his fatherly tolerance has made the whole club just a big family and that no man in baseball has a better grasp of field strategy.

Certainly, if this series, as alleged, has already been won, the man who has won it is this staid, dignified elder with the heart of a boy and a mind that is as agile today as ever it was in the long years Connie Mack has been identified with the profession. He has taken the buffets of the game with rare patience since last he had a champion back in 1914. Now,

Cubs Baffled

The reward will be neither carpet slippers nor chloroform. Connie Mack's career may be nearing its end but his life would seem to be only beginning. As to that, Chicago might have been able to give Dr. Osler a few pointers in this case. If the doctor had wished to do anything at all, Chicago would have been better satisfied today if he had done something about Connie Mack at the age of sixteen.

That might have helped. But today even Chicago is almost willing to admit that it is beyond help. Its Hornsby and its Cuylers cannot hit the Athletic pitching; its pitchers, barring Root, have been unable to stop the Athletic hitting. There was no attempt on my part to draw a deadly parallel at Joe McCarthy's expense by lauding Connie Mack. I am inclined to suspect, in fact, that not even Santa Claus could make the Cubs win the way they are going.

Charley Root might turn out to be the old man in disguise when he pitches the third game against the Athletics in Philadelphia tomorrow. Root would have beaten almost any man in the world except Ehmke in the series premiere. Tomorrow, he will get his chance to repeat and perhaps stake the National league to its first series victory since 1926 and the Cubs to a white man's chance for the title. But even should Root win tomorrow, McCarthy has no counter punch to offer. Bush was far from good after he relieved Root on Tuesday. Malone, Blake and Carlson were even worse yesterday. Therefore, with the Athletics ready to come up with Ehmke, Quinn, Earsaw, Grove and Rommel for the remaining games, the Chicago situation is far from what it might be.

In fact, it was even money that the three games in Philadelphia would suffice and that the series never would see Chicago again—except maybe next year.

FAVORITES BATTLE IN ORANGE LEAGUE

Beach and Cole intends that will work that way for four periods against the Excelsiors who came within a whisker of beating Anaheim last week.

Garden Grove, idle with a bye last week, makes its first appearance in conference competition against Brea-Olinda. The elevens will mix at Garden Grove. Little is known about the power of Coach John Mitchell's Chippepers. If they can trim "Shorty" Smith's Brea-Olindans, however, they will be ready for any competition in the league.

Anaheim draws the bye tomorrow.

The local line-up was as follows: A. Clark and Lawrence, ends; Huntoon and Purinton, tackles; Laub and Kistinger, guards; Holderman center; Meyers, quarterback; Cochems and Harden, halves; Wright, fullback. Substitutions: Cartwright for A. Clark, Birdsell for Lawrence, Sussdorf for Huntoon, Harding for Purinton, Allen for Laub, Lackey for Kistinger, Denlo for Lackey, B. Clark for Holderman, Appleby for Cochems and Brown for Wright.

Grid Team To Use Planes In Travel

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10.—For the first time in the history of local football, a gridiron team is scheduled to arrive here late today by airplane. The flying athletes are from the University of New Mexico. The squad will enter large cabin planes at Albuquerque, N. M., and land at Grand Central airport. The Lobos play Occidental college Friday night at Rose Bowl.

MISSIONS DEFEAT HOLLYWOOD AGAIN

FULLERTON, Oct. 10.—The newest wrinkle in labor saving devices in the sporting world was received at Santa Ana high school today and put to instant use by mobs of tennis players anxious to improve their game.

The apparatus consists of a steel frame having a cross piece of rubber to which a long rubber band is attached. A tennis ball is fastened to the rubber band, making the ball come back with great rapidity when hit with a tennis racquet. The ball sails out in space for some 30 feet and then speeds back to be hit again. Even the most expert players are unable to keep the ball going for any length of time, as the speed of the return is very deceiving.

The device is designed primarily to help the beginner perfect his strokes. Walter L. Scott, head of the physical education department, secured the "kumback" game for the school.

KING BEATS CARTER

WILMINGTON, Oct. 10.—Ritchie King, former lightweight champion of the navy, walked off with the decision here last night when he took eight out of 10 rounds from Benny (Kid) Carter.

In the semi-final event, Johnny Ramirez scored a technical knock-out over Joe Lewis in the sixth round. Young Sport took the decision from Andy Palami in the special.

TROY IS FAVORED Over Washington

SEATTLE, Oct. 10.—Local predictions make the Trojans 2 1-2 to 1 favorites to beat the University of Washington Huskies Saturday.

There is plenty of even money that Washington will not score in Saturday's game. It will be the third time the two school have clashed on the gridiron. Each has won one game, making this the playoff.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Prospects of a short series in the Pacific Coast baseball world appeared today after Hollywood's second consecutive loss yesterday to the San Francisco Missions.

Yesterday's score of 8 to 6, however, was quite nearer to an even game than Tuesday's. Twice during the second game, the Stars managed to even the score.

CHAPTER XXXIV

"But you haven't been doing it long," Shallimar vowed, "since, if you won't murder me for being so unoriginal—all work and no play, and all that, y' know."

"Practically all my life," Bob told her, ignoring the compliment.

Shallimar was not yet stopped. "My, how exceedingly difficult it must be to dim your light," she came back without pause. "I envy you, boy. I can't do without a little play. Know any playgrounds?"

Bob looked around at Helen, and was about to ask what was wrong with Bramblewood when he remembered Helen's recent bereavement. At least he was old-fashioned enough to consider it recent and to respect Helen for not forgetting it in what might have been, had she wished, a continuous round of pleasures.

"How should I know—when I don't play?" he evaded.

"We might. If we could drop Helen at home and borrow her car, find a few—anyway one," Shallimar replied, delighting in Bob's growing embarrassment and his attempt to sidestep her.

Eva barely suppressed a gasp but Helen managed a laugh. "Why, of course. I'll be glad to let you take the car, since I can't go with you," she said, adding to herself: "If he takes her out in my car I'll never speak to him again!"

It must be a favorite sport of the gods to set people at cross purposes, especially people who love each other. Such people take all trifles that touch upon their relations with one another with a seriousness that often spells the doom of their happiness. This was such an instance.

"So you don't care," Bob thought.

"Bob has a car of his own," Eva said snappishly.

"I couldn't ask Miss Morris to ride in that," Bob said with far more disdain for his lowly possession than that he felt.

Helen flushed, remembering the ride they'd had in that same car just the night before. He had seemed to think it good enough for her. And it had been a lovely ride.

"Well, come along. I've something to do at Bramblewood," she said. "See you tomorrow, Eva?"

Eva turned her head away. Sharp! It might have seemed had anyone been tranquil enough to notice. "Not tomorrow, Helen," she answered evasively; "unless you want me to run in after dinner, I'm going down to New York."

"Again?"

It was Bob who asked, and his face sobered considerably.

Eva's answer was uneasy. "Yes," she said, "I...you know I should have a lesson every day." Her voice, too high and too false, for the mere answering of a simple query, further troubled her brother.

But he did not say anything more to her, for at that moment their mother came into the living room. Helen went over and kissed her, an act at which Shallimar stared in amazement. Helen, who had never been demonstrative or...well! Shallimar wanted to laugh on a sudden thought, but there was no excuse for visible mirth at the moment.

"That's a line," she commented to herself. "Sorry, old dear," flinging a mental challenge to Helen. "I see why little Eva. Well, she keeps her men who holds them. Mother stuff!" Shallimar never snorted, but she came close to it at that moment. "She must think the kid has a mother complex. Well, something different on my hook, baby lamb. Something hotter!"

It did not ever occur to her that Helen was indulging a starved desire for mother love. Neither did it occur to her that there was any reason why she should not want a man that Helen was interested in. To Shallimar, each person was an individual. The strings that a man might attach to himself were for him to consider, not for her to concern herself with. She felt a right to have whatever she could take.

"I think I've heard that Montana Malone is hereabouts making whoopee," Shallimar said. "I like her stuff, if that's an answer."

"Not for me," Bob promptly replied: "I've got to win a few law suits first."

"I'll give you my first divorce," Shallimar promised. "I'm not so lousy—don't you love that word—with money myself. Got to collect a few alimony checks."

"I'm not going in for divorce cases," Bob said disapprovingly.

Shallimar laughed. "Well, it's not your future that interests me so much, dear one, as the feeling I have that you're a marvelous dancer. Come on."

"This is a cheap place," Bob warned her when they drove up to their destination.

"No mind, I won't see anything but you."

Bob was not taking her at all seriously. But a little later, when she was cradled against him on the dance floor he could not take her lightly. She was an entrancing creature, alluring with a nameless promise.

He had no desire to find out what it was, but it pleased him, since it had fallen to his lot to take a girl out just to spite Helen—at least he hoped it would spite her—that she should be attractive. It made it easier.

For it wasn't a pleasant thing to be doing. Childish, he told himself. But what the devil? Helen, with her quirky ideas might get a noble reaction out of it and hope he would fall sincerely in love with her friend.

What about this girl he was dancing with? Couldn't he learn to love her? He was too wise to think she'd fallen very hard for him simply because she flirted with him. But what if he tried to make her be serious? It would be a release from his maddening ache for Helen if he could start something with Shallimar. Why couldn't it be done?

But he'd play clean.

"What's that funny name, Helen called you?" he said, bending his head closer to her ear.

"It's a beautiful name, Shallimar."

"Shallimar," Bob repeated it, but he was thinking: "Why did Helen come over tonight? Fool! To bring Eva home, of course. Probably didn't expect to meet me. And maybe she didn't care...don't be little her...you know she cares, but she's quitting. She couldn't quit if she cared enough...she'd see what a rotten deal she's handing everybody, the other fellow included. Well, here's where I find out if I'm chained hand and foot to a hopeless passion."

Their dance was at an end. When they were seated at their table again he said, with a directness that startled Shallimar, and that was by no means an easy thing to do:

"I'd like to fall in love with you." Then he paused.

"And?" Shallimar invited.

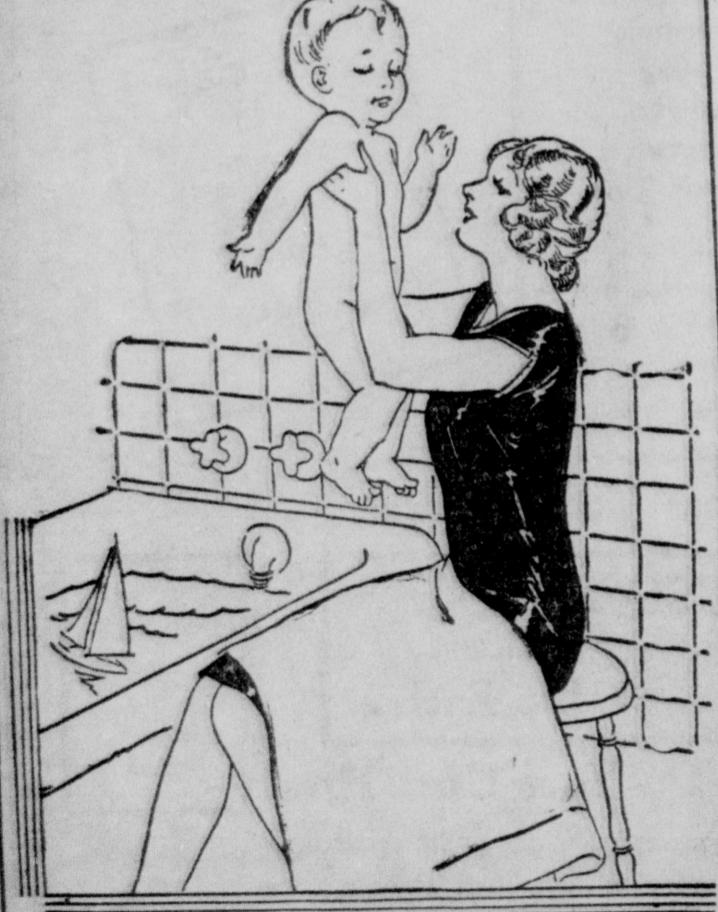

"I don't think you're worth it, with your easy talk of divorce and alimony, but I don't think it ever would come to marriage. I'm too poor for that."

Shallimar's face suddenly became blank. She sat back and stared at him.

"Just what," she asked, "are you proposing to me?"

Kiwanis Club Told Of Plans To Enlarge S. A. 'Bowl'

COUNCIL'S PLAN IS REVEALED IN TALK BY KELLY

NEW S. A. PASTOR
The Rev. Edgar Rothrock, new pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, in Santa Ana, who will preach at both church services Sunday. He formerly was pastor of the La Verne College church and succeeds the Rev. Roy P. Hylton as minister here.

M'Fadden Address Features Meeting Of Breakfasters

Breakfasters present at the meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club this morning were nursing aching sides today as a result of the address delivered by Attorney Tom McFadden, of Placentia.

Recognized as a witty speaker, McFadden outdid himself this morning, according to members of the club.

The program was developed by a committee consisting of Peace Officers Jesse Elliott, Capt. Henry Meehan and Ed French, with Elliott officiating as chairman.

The musical part of the program was conducted by Mrs. Kate McCullah, of the Anaheim branch of the Orange County School of Fine Arts. Vocal numbers by C. W. Rees, of Anaheim, and selections on the musical saw by Ted Hastings, of Santa Ana, were musical features added to the numbers given by Mrs. McCullah.

A number of applications for membership were received for consideration by the club.

Mrs. Roy Patrick entertained 20 friends, members of her bridge club, at a bridge party in her home one evening. All of the guests were of Huntington Beach.

Dr. Mills spoke earnestly in advocating a program of beautification for Santa Ana that would make this city one of the most attractive points in the Southland.

Walter McMillan, representing the American Legion in Huntington Beach, announced that there would be at least 15 bands and drum corps and 83 floats in the Armistice day parade in the Beach city. He urged that the club here co-operate with other Kiwanis clubs in the county in preparation of a float.

REV. ROTHROCK
NEW BRETHREN
MINISTER HERE DRAWS TERM OF 14 YEARS FOR ASSAULT HERE

The Rev. Edgar Rothrock has assumed his duties as pastor in the First Church of the Brethren, at the corner of Ross and Camille streets. He succeeds the Rev. Roy P. Hylton, who has been in charge of the church here for the last year.

The new minister has had 20 years' experience in pastoral work for three different congregations, the first two of which were in Nebraska and the last in La Verne, Calif., where he served the college church for six years.

During his ministry in La Verne, the Rev. Mr. Rothrock was influential in having a new parsonage constructed and inaugurated plans for the large church and religious-educational building upon which construction recently started.

Because of his kindly sympathy for the bereaved and suffering, the cleric worked out an unique service of comfort literature. More than 30,000 copies of the literature have been sold and have achieved national distribution in the last two years. The desire for more time on the part of the minister for additional literary activities had much to do with his resigning the care of his large college church in La Verne and his acceptance of the smaller charge in Santa Ana.

The Rev. Mr. Rothrock's reputation for public service is significant of the progressive church activities which are being planned here for the ensuing year. The new pastor will preach at both the morning and night services Sunday.

JUDGES IN FIRE
ESSAY CONTEST
ARE ANNOUNCED

FULLER PARK

FULLER PARK, Oct. 10.—Mrs. T. L. Hughes entertained the Happy Hair Sewing club in her home on Carol drive, Friday. After a delightful two-course luncheon the afternoon was spent in sewing and chatting. Mrs. L. Foiles and Mrs. C. Cox were presented with birthday remembrances. Mrs. C. W. Collesure will be the next hostess.

Mrs. C. W. Smith, of Kerman, Cal., is the house guest of her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cloyd.

Miss Ruth Blythe and Miss Fay Adams attended the weiner bake given by the Girl Reserves of the Christian church at Hillcrest park Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cox attended a show in Norwalk Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Corliss are guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Leming, of Compton.

Mrs. E. Kliestermeyer, of Orange, was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hill Friday.

Mrs. R. L. Anderson, motored to Long Beach Saturday, bringing back Mrs. A. Cougill for the week-end.

Judges in the essay contest being carried on in Santa Ana schools in connection with the Fire Prevention week program have been appointed and were announced today by John Henderson, chairman, as follows:

T. H. Glenn, head of the English department in the Santa Ana junior college; Mrs. S. I. Preble, president of the city federation of the Parent-Teacher association, and Homer C. Chaney, city trustee.

The judges will serve next week as students of the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades must submit their papers, the length of which is not limited, to the committee tomorrow.

Those entering the contest are writing essays on the subject: “How To Make Santa Ana Safe From Fire Destruction.” Prizes of $2 and $1 will be given the winners in each grade.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cox attended a show in Norwalk Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Corliss are guests of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Leming, of Compton.

Mrs. E. Kliestermeyer, of Orange, was a visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hill Friday.

Mrs. R. L. Anderson, motored to Long Beach Saturday, bringing back Mrs. A. Cougill for the week-end.

Losses sustained by business and industrial establishments, Henderson said today, that approximately 65 per cent of the fire waste, which, on the average, destroys property valued at $1000 every minute throughout the year, is borne by them.

In addition to the monetary loss involved, another important factor is the large number of men thrown out of employment by fire disasters. When a large fire destroys a business concern, the entire community suffers. With their income shut off, the unfortunate employee has a diminished purchasing power and all businesses are affected.

“Fire prevention,” says the insurance department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, “deserves the wholehearted co-operation of managements and employees. It is the responsibility of the owner to construct his building properly, eliminate as far as possible hazards incident to the work being undertaken, safeguard the storage of stock, provide suitable fire protection facilities, protect his records and authorize periodic inspections and fire drills. Employes should do their part by exercising carelessness at all times by reporting hazardous conditions and obeying all rules with respect to smoking and the disposal of rubbish.”

“While Fire Prevention week originally was observed only in cities, the serious losses to farm property in recent years have made the observance universal throughout rural districts as well as in the urban centers,” Henderson declared. “Several factors contribute to the heavy farm losses. Among these are poor construction, lack of fire protection because of isolation, hazards of acetylene lights, electricity, gasoline, milking machinery and storage of combustible products such as hay and straw and grain.”

Blue and Gold Is Color Scheme Used for Luncheon

Blue and gold flowers arranged the length of the luncheon tables in Ketner's blue room and flanked by tall blue tapers formed the motif for the attractive luncheon given there yesterday by Miss Ida Nay and Mrs. A. E. Davidson. Completing the color scheme were clever little place cards and nut cups.

As guests were arriving and later when they were finding their places at the tables, Miss Mame Havens played several lovely piano selections. The hostesses were assisted in receiving by Mrs. A. C. Black and Mrs. Harold Ratson of Corona.

A unique program had been arranged to follow the luncheon and Miss Nay presided as toastmistress during the merry hour which ensued and she opened the program with a toast to her guests which was answered by Mrs. L. M. Pearson.

Mrs. Eugenia Rutherford was then called upon for a brief address on Table Scraps which formed the topic for an unusually amusing little talk.

Miss Lulu Minter talked on "My Favorite Mode of Travel" in which she told of various means of transportation employed in Europe and Hawaii, concluding with a description of her favorite mode which is by ocean liner.

Mrs. Minnie Holmes talked on "Modern Styles" and Mrs. Davidson presented a number of clever Scotch readings.

Giving a glimpse of the world in 1940, Mrs. E. A. Bell foretold the future of each of the guests, telling her where she would be in 1940.

Following the review of an amusing little play, "Caroline," by Mrs. Margaret Hardin of Los Angeles, Miss Emily Cox surprised the hostesses by giving a discussion of their many good points.

Mrs. Charles Smith Presides at Dinner

Mrs. Charles Smith presided at a delightful birthday dinner Tuesday night given at the attractive Smith home, 1240 East Third street, in honor of Mr. Smith and Mrs. W. A. West.

A pretty color scheme was carried out in golden tones found in the two large cake glittering candles, place cards and graceful dahlias that centered the table.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. West, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mize, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Haas and Charles Haas.

Lyon-Porch Wedding Date Is Announced at Dinner

Blue Room at Ketner's Setting for Pretty Bridge Supper

Of much interest to Santa Ana friends of Roy James Lyon of this city and Miss Edith Porch of Anaheim was the announcement of their engagement which was made Wednesday night at a dinner given by Miss Porch's sister, Miss Neva Porch, at the Kirby home, 546 South Lemon street.

The wedding of the two is to be solemnized at the lovely new home which Mr. Lyon has purchased for his bride on Pomona Heights and it will take place October 16.

Tables for the elaborate dinner were lovely with appointments carried out in pastel tints with unique little place cards and nut cups which had been made by the hostess adding an artistic note to the setting.

When bridge scores were added at the conclusion of the evening's games, it was found that Mrs. Herbert Wilson was high, Miss Thelma Weageley second, and Miss Bessie Rennier low. Each was presented with an attractive gift and a special prize was won by Mrs. Eunice Barnes.

Miss Porch has been in Anaheim for the past four years during which time she taught home economics in the Anaheim Junior high school. She is a graduate of the Fresno State Teachers' college.

Mr. Lyon received his schooling in the east, came to Santa Ana seven years ago from Coonella and is president and manager of Roy J. Lyon, Inc., Orange county distributor for Firestone tires.

Dinner guests included Mesdames Elwin Kendrick, Mayme D. Potter, Ward Oulther, Rose Hessel, Elton McKamy of Santa Ana, Clay Davis of Long Beach, Herbert Wilson, John Poyet, Robert Easton, James Cain of Santa Ana, Orville Lyon, Wilbert Bonney, Edward Auer, Euclid Barnes, Dudley Woodin of Los Angeles and Leonard Sturgeon of Monrovia; the Misses Thelma Weageley, Esther Larimer, Ada Gartield, Gertrude Anderson, Vera Baker, Mary McDowell, Lydia Dornbush, Lucia Upp, Edna Fletcher, Ruby Cassou, Adelaide Price, Bessie Rennier, and Geraldine Fiscus of Long Beach, the guest of honor, the hostess and Mrs. Lyon.

Flower Show to Have Formal Opening at Four o'Clock

Interest in the beautiful display of autumn flowers and fruits assembled at the Ebell clubhouse to be featured in the annual Fall Flower show of the Santa Ana Ebell society, was expected to reach its culmination this evening at 5 o'clock, when the finance and hospitality committees of the society, will join in serving a dinner menu of home-prepared foods. Since the general public is expected to patronize this dinner, one of the largest crowds in the history of the clubhouse is anticipated, and for its pleasure, the flowers will be at their best.

The dinner hours will be furthered by special musical numbers, for Mrs. Kate McCullagh, head of the Orange County School of Fine Arts, will present pupils from the various departments, at intervals throughout the evening. A very nominal price will be asked for the dinner.

Judging of the flowers was to be accomplished this afternoon at 1 o'clock, by Joseph Vavra, dahlias expert, of Huntington Beach; M. R. Gouch of the Armstrong nurseries, Ontario, and T. D. Robertson, of the Robertson nurseries, Fullerton. Four o'clock this afternoon was the hour set for the formal opening of the flower show.

Tonight's program is expected to attract scores of nature lovers, for it will include a lecture on flowers of other countries, illustrated by lantern slides. This will be given in the auditorium.

The exhibit will continue all day tomorrow, with the finance committee serving luncheon at noon to the public.

The Blight of Worry
Worry is the blight at the heart of the rose we call Beauty. The most careful attention may be given to correct diet but fully half of the good effects of food are lost if we allow our minds to dwell on vague probabilities we think just might happen, and rarely do.

After all, did worry ever change the sum total one single figure? I have never known it to. I don't say that worry need not enter our lives, for it does, but we are given the intelligence to face and analyze our problems and to accept and discount the inevitable ending.

Worry creates an actually static condition in the body; worry excessively over something and an attack of indigestion or insomnia nearly always follows. Do the best you know how, then forget about it, for what is to be will be.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Hot Cheese Sandwich
Pimiento cheese, or 1-2 pound cheese, grated French mustard Paprika and salt 12 slices bread 1 egg beaten with 1-2 cup sweet milk Fat for frying.

Here we have a whole nourishing meal in one article: Proteins for growth, carbohydrates and fats for energy. The Bobs and Bettys need it to fly around all the corners cut by the present-day youngster! Don't forget to include something in salad form or a fresh fruit. These concentrated foods need the vegetable or fruit alkaline to help along digestion.

If you like the prepared pimiento cheese or perhaps one of those "pickle" cheese, you only mask them well with a fork and a little prepared mustard so that the cheese will spread easily. When grated cheese is used put the thinnest bit of butter or mayonnaise on each slice. Drop the cheese lightly on the buttered slice, spread the other with prepared mustard and dash of paprika, put together, cut diagonally across and dip in diluted egg, both sides, and quickly fry brown in hot fat.

Jam-filled sandwiches made this way are sum'shun. Try them sometime.

Allowing a full sandwich for each person the individual calorie total is a round 500. Most of the calories are unmistakable energy producers and fat-makers.

Do you know that beef, pork and veal roasts are greatly improved if all surfaces are well rubbed with dry mustard? Don't be afraid to use plenty of it. In roasting pork mix the mustard with a small amount of brown sugar, or use the sweet pickle syrup left from peaches to baste both pork and veal.

You will need the leaflet for this week, THE 21-DAY DIET RECIPES, if you plan to use the diet or give it to your friends. Calorie values are given with each recipe described. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a free copy this week.

Tomorrow the recipe will be Savory Meat Mold, kindly contributed by a friendly reader.

THEY'LL ENTERTAIN NEW YORK'S '400'

Opera that will be observed by New York's elite and heard by America's millions will be dispensed by these and other artists each Wednesday night on the NBC network. Upper left to right they are Genia Zielinska, soprano; Paula Hemminghaus, contralto, and Astrid Fjelde, soprano. In circle below is Robert Simmons, tenor, while sketch at left is Gasparo Ricca's conception of Cesare Sodero leading the orchestra.

RADIATING with the Radio Editor

Move Diamond Horseshoe To Cathedral Studio of National System

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Shades of Richard Wagner! Radio has its "Diamond Horseshoe."

The bejeweled semi-circle of the opera finds its counterpart this winter in a select audience of New York's "400" clad in formal dress, now permitted to watch grand opera being sung for a coast-to-coast radio audience in the Cathedral studio of the National Broadcasting company here.

Yet more than 400 will willingly watch the elaborate radio versions as staged under the futuristic light effects of the NBC's Cathedral studio. This is all the studio will seat without interfering with the singers or orchestra—an accident which finds high favor with the opera-loving elite.

The list of applications for the special cards of admission to the studio on Wednesday nights reads like the social register.

Sophisticated opera-goers find new fascination in following the meteoric rise of new opera stars formerly hid within the studios. The American composer, Frankie Harling, when arranging the sensational European premiere in Paris this summer of his jazz opera, "The Light From St. Agnes," wanted not the leading soprano of its world premiere in Chicago—but the radio soprano, Astrid Fjelde, who sang that role in the opera's presentation over the air last season. Miss Fjelde will sing the same role again in the NBC studio December 4 with the composer, Mr. Harling, conducting.

BEFORE THE MIKE

Now that winter is ready for its cue, good radio weather will soon make its appearance. Many stations have anticipated this season and have prepared for it by the addition of numerous programs and the renewal of several which were off the air during the summer.

It's about time that the radio Sherlock Holmes made his appearance. He's one Ransom Renwick, cool, calm and collected, fearing no man, woman or child. He appears in a detective story especially created for radio, entitled "The Mystery House." It's a regular Friday night NBC feature.

Do you want to see lovely red-gold hair, blue eyes you've often dreamed about, and a regular peach and cream complexion? Well, arrange to take a look at Bernice Yanacek, who announces morning programs at WBBM, Chicago. She's such a beauty that she poses for magazine covers. She was WBBM's

STATIONS 100 MILES DISTANT TRY ONE WAVE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Experiments to determine the practicability of synchronizing high-powered broadcasting stations on the same channel, with a view of conserving wavelengths, have been authorized by the federal radio commission.

WABC, of New York city, "key" station of the Columbia Broadcasting system, and WCAU, of Philadelphia, also affiliated with the Columbia chain, have been granted the authorization as their own request.

The tests are designed to ascertain whether it is practicable for two stations of high power to operate simultaneously on the same frequency without causing ruinous interference. The engineering theory, it was brought out, is that actual "synchronization" can be obtained if the carrier waves emitted by the two stations exactly coincide, or deviate only a few cycles.

Tests from 1 to 5 p.m.

Under the special authorization the stations are permitted to conduct the tests from 1 to 5 a.m. with the proviso that an extension will be granted if desired. WCAU, owned by the Universal Broadcasting company, is authorized to change its frequency from 1,170 kilocycles, WABC's cleared channel, for the tests only.

The New York chain is authorized to broadcast with 5,000 watts power, while the Philadelphia station uses only 1,000 watts, but is authorized to transmit with 10,000 watts. In applying for permission to attempt the synchronization tests the stations said that special equipment devised for the experiments would be employed, designed to keep the stations constant on the 880-kilocycle channel.

At previous engineering hearings held before the commission, radio engineers testified that absolute synchronization is not practicable at this time, but that it is feasible when the signals between the two stations are controlled by land wire. This, it was pointed out, however, is an expensive process, and is prohibitive on a general basis.

Authorize Synchronization

Federal Radio Commissioner Ira S. Robinson and E. O. Sykes, however, support the theory that synchronization without the use of wires is practicable, when the two stations assigned to the same channel are widely separated geographically. The commission recently authorized synchronization experiments between KVOO, at Tulsa, Okla., and WAPI, at Birmingham, Ala., but the reports received from them have been to the effect that as yet too little is known about the procedure, says "The United States Daily."

It was explained at the commission's engineering division, that if a practicable means of synchronization is found, it would prove the salvation of broadcasting, since the broadcast spectrum now is exceedingly congested with broadcast stations.

Relay on Telegraph Lines

The development of this government-owned chain is a notable achievement as it was made possible entirely through the use of the Canadian National Telegraph Lines.

For the past few years the carrier-current system has been made available along these nationally owned telegraph lines.

With this system it is possible to send as many as ten messages along the wire at the same time.

Telephone conversations can also be sent along these wires.

Thus the entire railway system's communication is done on its own telegraph lines by telephone and radio. This does away with special telephone lines between cities, such as are necessary in the United States.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE ROBERT P. LAMONT

FEDERAL RADIO BOARD'S LIFE WILL END SOON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—If things continue as they are with the federal radio commission, the U. S. department of commerce may find itself struggling with the unrelished advances of an old love. For December 31 marks the end of direct authority over radio by the radio commission.

According to the existing law, the federal radio commission loses its administrative control of broadcasting and other forms of radio at the end of this year and becomes merely an appellate body over the decisions of the department of commerce. Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont may already be steeling himself for the ordeal, although he has a man in charge of the radio division in his department who is only too well acquainted with the trials and troubles of the commission.

Knows Ins and Outs

That man is William D. Terrell, who conducted the radio activities of the department of commerce when President Hoover was secretary of commerce and when that department had sole control of wireless activities in the United States. He therefore knows all the ins and outs of the game and is considered highly competent to take on the burden that the present commission will throw upon him.

There is the probability, however, that the life of the radio commission as an administrative and executive body may be extended, as it has twice since its inception in March of 1927. Representative Wallace White of Maine is considering this proposal and may present it to Congress either at the end of the present special session or at the beginning of the regular session which opens December 4.

If White fails to carry his proposal and the commission's powers, outside of the judicial, are reverted to the department of commerce, almost its entire force of 100 or more may be transferred to that department. The result will be merely the continuation of their work as before, but under the supervision of Terrell and the authority of Secretary Lamont.

No Gladstone Job

It is no gladstone job to which either Terrell or Lamont look forward. President Hoover is in position to sympathize with them if they get it.

The president, realizing the situation perhaps more keenly than any one else in the government, may include a recommendation in his message to Congress early in December for the continuance of the commission's existence as heretofore.

Congress also is expected to take up the bill for a central government broadcasting station, proposed by Senator Nye of North Dakota. Nye would have a high power station in Washington, to be operated by the department of commerce and to be the nucleus of what might become a network

HITS POLICY OF GIVING CHAINS CLEAR WAVES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Criticism of the federal radio commission's policy of granting clear channels to chain broadcasting stations and the assertion that if such a policy persists it will "force the government to put radio stations under government control," was made on the floor of the Senate by Senator Dill (Dem.) of the state of Washington, member of the Interstate Commerce committee and co-author of the federal radio act.

Mr. Dill's speech came one day after the commission had announced postponement until December 31, 1929, of its order which would limit duplicated operation of chain programs on cleared channels to stations more than 300 miles apart.

Mr. Dill quoted from a magazine article giving an account of recommendations just made to the Canadian government by a commission which studied the radio situation in that country, the United States and other countries.

Cites Federal Control Plea

Senator Dill said that commission was composed of "hard-headed business men," and that it had urged the Canadian government to abolish private stations and to place them under government control and operation, granting a subsidy to the stations and taxing receiving sets $3 a year each.

The Canadian commission, he declared, had found that the only way the people can be assured of fair radio service is through government operation.

WCAU was charged an annual fee of $2,500. This has been raised to $5,000. WCAU calls the double price exorbitant and refuses to pay more than $2,500.

"While we feel that we should pay for the use of copyrighted music," said Dr. Leon Levy, president of the Universal Broadcasting company, "we do not feel the society has a right to increase the fee 100 per cent. It has been the practice of this society to raise their fees annually and it has indicated that it will continue to do so.

"It is reaching a very oppressive point and if we all sit by idly, the society will make it impossible for any broadcasting stations to operate, because of the exorbitant charges."

E. C. Mills, of the society, said: "The WCAU is strictly in

CHAIN LIMITATION AGAIN POSTPONED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Again the date of the order prohibiting the broadcasting of the same program from stations no more than 300 miles apart has been postponed by the federal radio commission, this time to December 31. The order was originally issued on September 8, 1928, it being last postponed on May 15.

The postponements are due to the repeated pleas of chain stations who say that this order would eliminate chain broadcasts in many localities except for an hour or two nightly.

TOWN-CRYING NOT WHAT IT USED TO BE; RADIO BLAMED

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN

United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Oct. 10.—In the village where General Pershing had his headquarters during the war and which bears the high-sounding name of Colombey-les-Deux-Églises but which means only the place with two churches, the saddest man to be found is the town crier, old Jehan Bordier.

"Man and boy," says the old town crier "I have sounded on my drum and given out the news to an appreciative public—when to sow when to harvest; who's come to town, who's going to the city; who's going to sell something by auction and so on and so forth."

"But now the days are dull for town crying. I blame both newspapers and radio for the big change, especially the radio. If you ask me," added the old town crier, "I don't understand it, don't understand it at all. How anyone can talk without any wires and to so many people all at once beats me."

Jehan Bordieremoans the passing of General Pershing and the American doughboys.

"They were a fine lot of people for my business," the old town crier declares. "They would gather round me when I beat my drum. They didn't understand me, perhaps, but nevertheless they listened to me all the time, right until I had cried out everything I had to say. I wish I could get an audience like that once again just to show my old voice has not got out of practice yet."

PORTABLE SENDER IS USED FOR NEWS

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 10.—The portable transmitter developed for use by parachute jumpers to describe sensations while falling has been made standard equipment for WEAF and WJZ. It is to be used for reporting news and sporting events such as polo matches and football games.

The new device, which is carried on the back of the announcer, weighs only twenty-four pounds and is operated with batteries. The range of the transmitter is about one mile, but this can be increased by increasing the voltage of the batteries.

At present, the antenna is held aloft by two small poles carried by assistants to the announcer, but in the future it is planned to use a small balloon for holding the antenna vertically.

The signals from the portable transmitter are picked up by a shortwave receiver located nearby from which they are sent to the regular broadcasting stations.

PHILCO BRINGS PHILADELPHIA ORCHESTRA TO NATION'S FANS

Bringing to the American homeword would go on the air. Indeed, I have looked for that day when the season the Philadelphia orchestra, under the leadership of Leopold Stokowski, is the leading topic of conversation of radio fans in every part of the United States this month.

Sponsored by the Philadelphia Storage Battery company, makers of the Philco radio, the orchestra, long the great musical organization of the country to remain aloft from radio broadcasting, is to be heard over a nationwide network over the NBC system, Sunday afternoons of November 3 and December 8 from 2:30 until 3:30 p. m.

"Always, since the advent of radio," said Leopold Stokowski at a rehearsal recently for the broadcast series which will come from the Academy of Music in Philadelphia. "I have believed that one day the Philadelphia orchestra

GOVERNMENT FORUM SUGGESTED BY NYE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Information regarding government activities should be sent over a government-owned radio station, according to Senator Nye, who introduced a bill in the senate advocating the establishment of a government station.

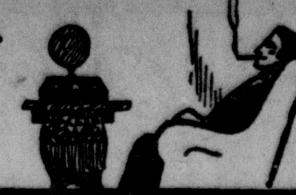

He also states that debates of matters of wide interest held in the senate or in congress should be transmitted.

The station should be under the direction of the secretary of commerce, he suggests, and located in Washington, D. C., additional stations to be established in other parts to guarantee reception in every part of the country.

He also points out that such a station is important for political purposes.

"In recent campaigns enormous sums were spent for radio," he says.

WHY SCREEN-GRID?

Screen-Grid tubes by being doubly shielded keep the electrical current flowing steadily on its intended course and does not permit it to jump, causing squeaks and other noise—and that with these tubes it is possible to get about ten times greater radio-frequency amplification per stage than old-style tubes, thus making the Screen-Grid sets more powerful and increasing their receiving range.

But it is Atwater Kent's method of using these tubes that has revolutionized all radio principles of design and produced results no other radio today has been able to even approach.

Thousands sold daily and yet comparatively few know of its revolutionary performance.

THOSE who have seen and heard Model 60 have bought! And the more who see and hear it...

No one can experience the new thrill of radio performance that Model 60 will give them without buying.

Why, if the only difference between this Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio and other makes was its greater power...

that's difference enough.

Power for more volume than you'll ever need—and without distortion, too. Power that reaches out and brings in weak distant stations as though the towers were but a few blocks away.

But that isn't the only difference! That isn't the only reason it's the overwhelming choice of radio buyers all over this nation.

It even stops outside noise, eliminates A.C. hum, clears and purifies the program of undesirable interference.

And it's so selective that no matter how close stations may appear on your dial... there's only one you ever hear at all, at one time.

It gives you perfect interpretation of music. And if you'll but listen to it a moment, you'll know that you are hearing for the first time what you have only listened to in the past, but never heard.

Model 60 is the only radio on earth that does everything others claim!

will see other noted American composers directing radio presentations of their work. Present plans call for personal appearances of Charles Wakefield Cadman and Henry Hadley for "The Witch of Salem" and "Cleopatra's Night," respectively.

The radio opera season will present as many Americans as German works, but both are outnumbered by 15 Italian operas, eight French, four Russian and one Polish masterpiece. It is the most pretentious schedule ever attempted for radio audience and does honor to the growing discernment of American listeners.

This means that Cesare Sodero, maestro of NBC's grand opera company, will have to tighten still more his Spartan schedule of one meal a day, and perhaps do with even less than his customary four hours of sleep each night. Sodero is faced with the gigantic task of choosing which parts

Every Constipated Person Should Try This

Stop taking pills, salts and other harsh laxatives that irritate and weaken the bowels. Such things merely force a movement without cleansing the liver of its excretions. The only effective laxative is castor oil. You will find it in every drug store in a day or two and you find it necessary to use more often.

Everybody ought to know that a torpid, lazy liver suggests with bile is the best natural constipation. This stored-up bile poisons the whole system and upsets digestion, resulting in bad breath, headaches, coated tongue, slow skin, constipation, diarrhea, spasms or high blood pressure. After a good internal cleansing with Plantax, which also tones up and regulates the liver, these symptoms usually disappear completely.

Plantax is made from the juices or extracts of harmless medicinal herbs—Nature's own remedies. It works gently, mildly, but most effectively. Large bottle $1 at any good drug store.

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Hargness as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it always uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

It is a well known fact that some foods have a strong tendency to produce an excess of stomach acid and consequent indigestion. By omitting from daily meals those foods that experience proves do not agree and limiting the diet to certain tasteless, unseasoning foods, stomach trouble may, in many instances be slowly overcome. Nine times in ten, however, indigestion, gas, etc., are due to excessive acidity and the premature souring of food in the stomach. Keep the stomach clean and sweet by freeing it of this extra acid and then sufferers can eat the foods they like best and as much as they want in reason and have no stomach trouble at all. Thousands of people take this daily—simply taking after every meal a little Bisulcated Magnesia, which can be had at any good drug store in either powder or tablet form. Bisulcated Magnesia instantly neutralizes strong acids, stops food fermentation and meals digest as naturally and painlessly as in the stomach of a healthy child. Stomach comfort means a lot and most folks like good things to eat. Enjoy them both by making Bisulcated Magnesia your daily after-eating protection.—Adv.

The wind kept tossing waves up high. It seemed they soon would reach the sky. The Weeone, in the wooden shoe, was bobbing here and there. It's just like hanging to a limb, though he he. I'll bet I'll take a swim. If only it was shallow here I really wouldn't care.

The shoe then tipped up on a wave. The Weeone loudly shouted, "Save me, please! I think I'm going to drop into this raging stream. Come on there, Scouty, lend a hand." So Scouty swam to beat the hand. The other Times, back on shore, could hear the Weeone scream.

Oh, listen to the wild waves roar," said Clowny. "I'm glad we're on shore. I think that Scouty was real brave to trail that wooden shoe. But now perhaps he's in a mess. I'd like to help him, I'll confess, but I have thought and thought and there is nothing I can do.

I only wish we had a boat that we could take right out and float.

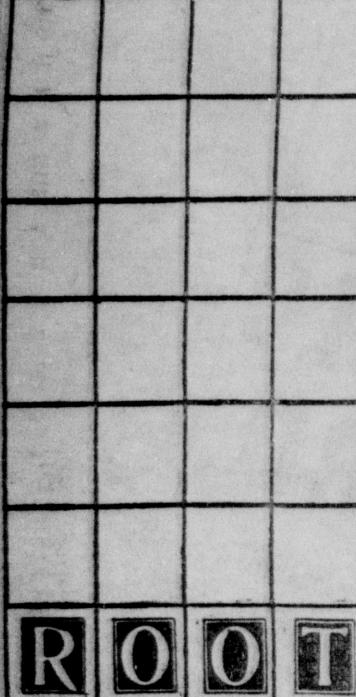

Missing Letter Links

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE, TIE, PIE, PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.

change in plea was taken as a result of the publication yesterday of the alienists' verdict. They held the banker to be normal in all respects and "super normal" in intelligence.

Waggoner's counsel, Allen R. Campbell, entered the plea of guilty just as soon as the banker was brought into Federal Judge Frank J. Coleman's court. Waggoner was standing by the lawyer's side.

Before moving or sentencing of the banker, U. S. Attorney Charles H. Tuttle addressed the court, saying he wished to make it clear that the plea of guilty was not made by pre-arrangement and that no promises had been made.

Scores of witnesses, some brought from as far as Los Angeles and Seattle, had been summoned by the government and were on hand to testify. They will be allowed to return to their homes immediately.

Among the prospective witnesses were many from Telluride.

Apparently Waggoner had rested his entire defense on the contention of insanity.

The indictment to which Waggoner pleaded guilty contained six counts, each charging use of the United States mails to defraud.

Whether the New York banks will ever recover their money still is considered doubtful. Certainly months and perhaps even years of litigation will be necessary.

Waggoner was sought through the middlewest for several days after routine bank notices mailed from here to Denver revealed the fraudulent transactions.

He was finally arrested at Newcastle, Wyo. The banker, making no effort to conceal his identity, had traveled alone by automobile through several states, waiting for private detectives and federal and state authorities to catch up with him.

Waggoner at first indicated he would fight extradition to New York, but soon dropped this plan and was brought here two weeks ago for trial.

M'LAIRN KAYOES BAKER IN FIRST

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A title bout with Jackie Fields, welter-weight champion, loomed today for Jimmy McLarin, diminutive fighting machine from Vancouver, B. C., as a result of his sensational one-round knockout of Sergeant Sammy Baker last night.

Baker, one of the outstanding contenders for the title, went down under a flurry of rights and lefts to the jaw, and the bout was over in two minutes and one second. McLarin received an ovation from the 10,000 fans who packed the Coliseum.

McLarin weighed 144. Baker 146.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Oct. 10.—The study club of international relations will meet in the Woman's Civic clubhouse Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. J. G. McCracken will be in charge of the program.

the Wilson administration when Fall and other members of the senate foreign relations committee called at the white house to ascertain the president's physical condition.

Ruffin was one of the specialists who attended the war president during his illness.

Justice Hitz today said Dr. Crayton reported Fall was too ill to appear in court soon or "likely not at all."

"The examination, however, was not entirely satisfactory," Justice Hitz said. "Dr. Crayton was not able to make an examination which would enable him to present a final report as to his condition."

Three prominent physicians then were named by Hitz to make a more thorough examination of the former interior secretary and report tomorrow.

FACTS AND POLITICS

Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant has presented to the Board of Supervisors data in regard to the dam findings. She calls attention to the fact that after an exhaustive study there are only two possible serious difficulties that have been raised by the opponents of the upper site.

One of these is the contention that Riverside county would place an exorbitant tax upon the upper site. In answer to this she calls attention to the opinions of many attorneys, including some of the leading legal authorities in Los Angeles, that this site would be tax-exempt and of the concurrence in that opinion of the Attorney-General of the state.

The second suggestion is in regard to the contention that rising streams would be clogged at the upper site, by silt, if it was used. Her letter lists a number of engineering authorities who disagree entirely on this contention, and the opinions of these engineers were furnished the committee of which Mrs. Bryant was a member, and are available for the supervisors as others.

After listening to the letter in which Mrs. Bryant asked for a reply, the Board took no action whatever in the matter.

We believe Mrs. Bryant is to be congratulated on the fine piece of work she has done in respect to gathering data on this matter, and while the Board may pay little or no attention to it, we believe that it will affect public opinion after the facts are known, and these facts should be known.

Mrs. Bryant should not worry over the fact that the Board of Supervisors pays little or no attention to data that is out of harmony with what they have determined to do. Mrs. Bryant probably has not had the experience in politics that she has had in other matters, and it is difficult for her to understand how a group of men, who individually and personally in their business life examine data and are affected in their conclusions by it, can get together politically at a secret conclave and positively agree after having viewed a panorama of the battle of Gettysburg that they have actually been looking upon a faithful reproduction of Mona Lisa.

They will never do this except in a secret conference. If it is an open discussion following the viewing of the picture of Gettysburg, there will be some one who will contend that it does not resemble Mona Lisa, but when it is not in the open and they get behind closed doors, the political exigencies of the case and the necessity of all hanging together are presented, they will make the report that Mona Lisa was the picture.

Our political affairs are great business affairs, and Mrs. Bryant is right in insisting that we should be governed by facts and not by political conclusions. She is governed by facts and she is going to keep at it until the people know them and understand them. Mrs. Bryant will get a reply, probably after the Board has determined in a group meeting just exactly what kind of a reply to issue.

By the way, that problem of pajamas for street wear seems to have been pretty well settled.

LEADERS OF PEACE

We would call the attention of our readers to the joint statement issued by Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and President Hoover after their various conversations during the past few days, as Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Hoover have met in this friendly way.

No one can read this statement without a deep sense of gratitude that we have leaders of these two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race who are in such harmony, and with determination that war shall be no more. We believe when they state that war is impossible between two nations, that they state an absolute truth, and while those jingoes can still try to arouse suspicion and create hate, and declare that things will change and new men will be in charge other than Hoover and MacDonald, at the same time we should remember that the men who will take their places will represent the sentiment of the nations, and they cannot be effective against that sentiment.

We are publishing this entire statement in another column of the paper. Read it over. It is an historic document. It is only the joint opinions of these two men. There is no pact signed. There is no treaty entered into. But it is a statement which is not only an expression of the sentiment of the people, but it is a creator of sentiment.

We would particularly emphasize the closing paragraph in that statement. They say:

We hope and believe that the steps we have taken will be welcomed warmly by the people whom we represent as a substantial contribution to the efforts universally made by all nations to gain security for peace.

And then the most significant phrase in their whole document:

...not by military organization—but by peaceful means rooted in public opinion and enforced by a sense of justice in the civilized world.

These two big brained, big hearted students and scholars, statesmen and practical men of affairs, men of conviction, yet with open minds, recognize that the finest way to prepare the world for peace is not by the club, but by flinging the club away and extending the open hand.

We will always have differences; differences of opinion among individuals, among groups and among nations, but they will aid in bringing about the firm realization of the settlement of these differences by agreement, by concession, by judicial action and by lawful processes.

A COMMENDED WORKER

Because of its action in abolishing the positions of superintendent and chief case supervisor in the welfare division and dismissing Mr. R. R. Miller and a flock of other employees in the county's charity department, Los Angeles county has been singled out for an article in a recent number of the Survey, a widely circulated national publication, which does not reflect much credit upon the action in this case. It holds special interest in Orange county because Mr. Miller is well and favorably known here and at the present time executive secretary of the Santa Ana Community Chest.

"The division (or welfare)," says Mr. John Steven the writer of the article, who is secretary of the Los Angeles Municipal League, "last year spent two million dollars in helping some 20,000 families. Complete records were kept, and the case work met with the approval of every family agency which dealt with the county, among them the Children's Protective Association, the Tuberculosis Association, the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations, the Catholic Welfare Bureau, the Traveler's Aid Society, and the Juvenile Court. Beside the efficient conduct of their case work, R. R. Miller and Emily Wooley, the incumbents of the positions abolished, have done notable research of a constructive character in such problems as the economic status of the tubercular convalescent, Mexican indigency, unemployment, and co-operation with the courts in cases of failure to provide.

"Almost none of the good things which can be said of the division under Mr. Miller could have been said of it under his predecessor."

"Prior to his assuming office 'Relief' was an end in itself. Budgets, plans with definite terminal facilities, rehabilitation programs, were the exception. . . . Workers were cautioned that they were to do no visiting in connection with certain cases submitted by the supervisors. . . . Clients with considerable holdings in real estate were common. . . . No studies were under way for getting at the root of our Mexican, unemployment, tuberculosis, and other outstanding problems. . . . private agencies ignored the department, and were by it ignored. This unfortunate relationship, and the absence of a confidential exchange, caused great duplication."

"Here was the case of a reform which succeeded too well," says this commentator, Mr. Steven.

The article which many will be interested in reading because of its analysis of the recent upheaval in the welfare division of the Los Angeles county charities is highly creditable to Mr. Miller. His many friends will be interested in this widely heralded endorsement of him and criticism of those who made it impossible for him to continue his work there. But their loss is our gain for it has made him available for the present work he is now doing in Santa Ana.

Many people are keeping the new bills as souvenirs, say treasury officials. A lot of folks seem to be keeping the old ones as souvenirs, too.

POPULAR TASTE

A significant little item appears in today's dispatches.

Mme. Curie, the world's most famous woman scientist and co-discoverer of radium, left Paris yesterday, and boarded the boat-train for Cherbourg on her way to this country. She left from the St. Lazare station, a quiet, timid little woman. There were hundreds and hundreds of people, and with great acclaim acknowledging the departure of the train, but not of Mme. Curie. It was of Maurice Chevalier and his wife, coming to Hollywood to make more talkies.

Mme. Curie is on her way to the United States to receive as a present a second gram of radium from her American admirers. She will be a guest at the White House, and attend the dedication of Hepburn Hall of Chemistry, St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y.

But the crowd was for the movie man. One of the world's great scientists and benefactors of the human race passed by quietly unnoticed. A few months ago we had a similar illustration. Rudolph Valentino, a popular movie star, as we recall, died the same day that Charles Eliot, former president of Harvard University, passed away. Pages and columns in the newspapers were given to Valentino; great crowds gathered at his bier. President Eliot's notice was comparatively brief, relegated in some papers to the back pages, and received, as a matter of fact, the main notice by the very contrast.

But Mme. Curie will live in history, and her works will be studied by the student fifty and one hundred years from now, as will the works of Charles Eliot.

Some reputations are like bumblebees, biggest when they are born.

Waxworks Lead a Hectic Life

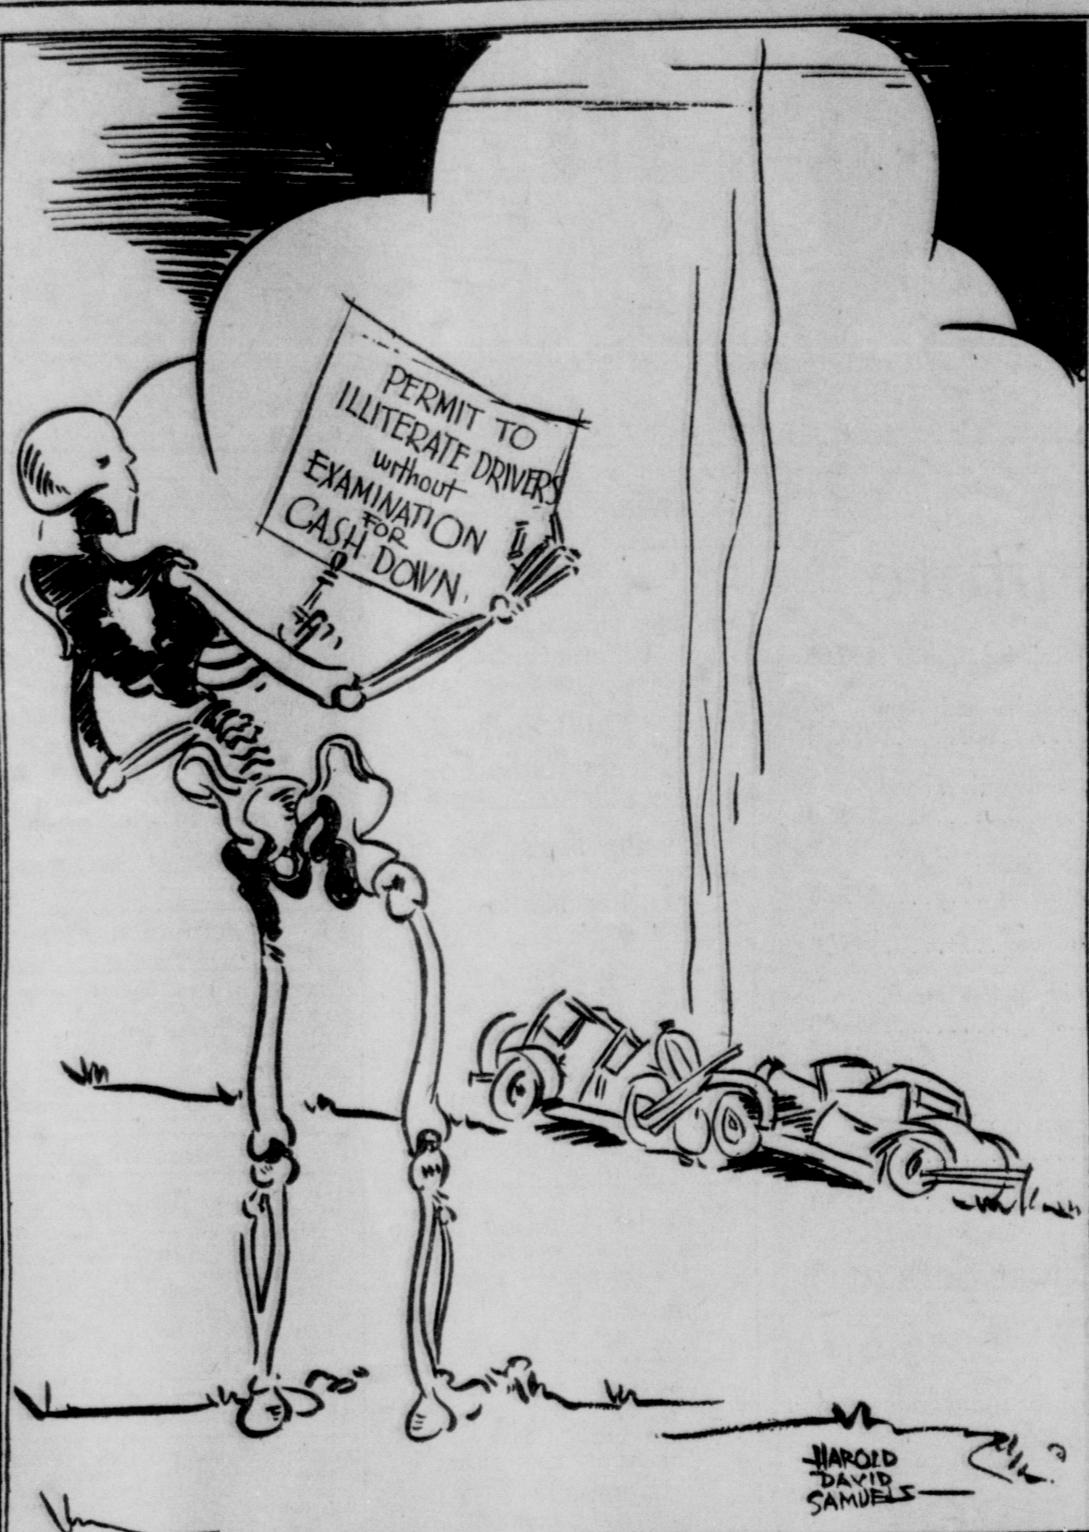

New York Times

When a Word-of-the-Month Club is started one of the candidates will be tempo. The economists reported to President Hoover that it was the tempo of industry and commerce that had changed, rather than economic law. Bürgermeister Boess envies New York's tempo; he wants a little of it transferred to Berlin.

The latest dispatches from Europe indicate that the modern tempo has seriously affected one historic industry. The Musée Grévin is the Mme. Tussaud's of Paris. There, as in the Eden Musée of a generation ago in New York, well-known men and women are immortalized in wax. But the business has grown hazardous. Fame is too swift. It brushes men and women too lightly with its wings. Famous one day, they are all but forgotten the next. Secretary Kellogg has to be melted down into Philip Snowden.

Yet it should be possible, by handling the subject deftly, to effect some of the necessary transitions without too great disturbance. For years the Dying Gaul passed muster as a Dying Gladiator, even in marble. Wax should be easier to handle, particularly with the aid of clothes and scenery. If the Eden Musée were in existence today, count upon it that the Dying Poacher would be labeled Dying Bootlegger.

More Truth Than Poetry

RENUNCIATION

When the night is done the ascending sun
Is a glorious thing to see,
There's a golden glow on the world below
And a sheen on the silver sea.
To wander away at the break of day
And pause on a grassy knoll
To view the dyes in the wakening skies
Is a balm to the weary soul.
It's a joy to tramp through the meadows damp,
When the air is atrill o'erhead
With the robin's voice; but my personal choice
Is to stay in a snug warm bed.
It is quite agreed that the spur of Need
Is better than useless wealth,
The poor man's life, with its toll and strife
Brings the blessing of boundless health.
A heart controlled by the greed of gold
Is filled with a wild unrest,
For the millionaire there is only care
And worry and vague unrest.
But well I know that when fortunes grow
They are followed by griefs and ills
And I prefer myself to be cursed by self,
Than by grocers' and butcher's bills.
To stake a claim on the heights of fame
Is a wonderful thing to do,
It is grand to rest on a lofty crest
While the world looks up to you.
By labor and pain your place you gain
And with satisfied pride you glow
As your eyes look down with a sneering frown
On the underlings there below.
But I envy not the exalted lot
Of a painter, or even a bard,
For to gain the crown of supreme renown
Means working too dogged hard.

The Price of Progress

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Business losses are, in part, the price we have to pay for progress.

The money that is invested in getting ready to produce a new talking movie, a new magazine, or a new oil-heater, may be a total loss, because somebody reaches the market first with a better product.

Corner grocers fail because chain stores develop cheaper distribution. Wooden ships rot at the wharves because faster ships take their places. Text-books are discarded because better books are written. Even new machines become obsolete and are scrapped before they have ever been used.

Such losses could be avoided only in a static—a changeless—society. But as long as consumers have freedom of choice, and producers are free to compete for their dollars, business must run risks and suffer losses.

Somebody has to pay these losses. In the present industrial order, they are paid by a comparatively few people, as a penalty for the failures in business.

In any other industrial order, losses would occur. Radical reformers may overlook this problem in theory, but they could not overlook it in practice. Even under communism there would be risks and mistakes, and therefore losses. These losses, now borne by a few people, would be distributed over the whole population.

To be sure, a government could avoid losses in any one industry by operating it as a monopoly, fixing prices, and paying deficits out of tax receipts. In this way, the United States Government covered the losses incurred by its management of the railroads. But no government could operate all industries that way.

Every progressive society in some way has to meet business losses.

Thoughts On Modern Life

THE HIGH SCHOOLS IN 1890

In its Research Bulletin for September, the National Education Association presents a sweeping and searching study of the high schools, in terms of the obvious fact that during the last 40 years the world and life for which the high schools are supposed to train have been profoundly changed. Today and tomorrow I want to present the summary of the differences between the high schools of 1890 and the high schools of 1929 as suggested by this research.

The high schools of 1890 were marked by the following eight facts:

First, they were attended by the intellectual and social elite, by students with similar social backgrounds, sons and daughters of parents in a preferred social, economic and vocational position.

Second, they set out primarily to select pupils with superior capacity and background, and to prepare them for cultural, social, economic and political leadership by putting them through the paces of a traditional academic curriculum.

Third, they were seldom found in the larger centers of population. In the United States, for instance, there were, in 1890, only 4,158 secondary schools in operation; 2,526 were public and 1,622 private.

Fourth, of all the boys and girls attending elementary and secondary schools in the United States in 1890, only 1.6 per cent of them were in the high schools.

Clip this summary and save it for comparison with a like summary I shall present of the high schools of 1929 tomorrow.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

TRAINING FOR LEISURE

It is not enough that we train children to work for a living, to be "successful." Material success, a daily job may be the ruin of a human being, in that it cuts off all spiritual growth.

The work of the world is to be done by machinery. More and more of the drudgery is handed over to the machine. The hours of labor are shortened and the leisure time is growing greater year by year. It is the proper use of this leisure time that will save us. We must prepare children to use it wisely and well.

Art is the highest expression of the hand and mind. A bit of beauty feeds the soul that would otherwise starve in a material world. What that bit of beauty is to be must depend upon the taste and ability of the one most interested. Music will fill the need of one, color and form will bring joy to another. But the enjoyment of some sort of art, an appreciation of one or many of its phases is essential.

A man or woman needs to have more than interest apart from his work. If he is to possess that gift when he is old, it must be indicated to him in childhood. He must be given an opportunity that in the leisure time to come he will find comfort and solace in it.

The gifted few do creative work. To make something lovely not only adds to the joy of the creator, but it adds to the sum of human happiness. Suppose it is nothing more than a clay pot. If it was made in sincerity, in joy, it is a thing of beauty and a way that leads out of darkness into light. The pleasure, the uplift a bit of creative work returns to its maker is what makes the difference between a life of gorgeous color and a life of drab and dreary.

Some measure of this I would crave for every child in the schools. Offer them a great variety of experience. Open all the doors of beauty to them and let them enter at will. Flood them with color and music and literature. Make them acquainted with the great songs, with the grand poems, with the majestic prose of the masters. Offer them all but insist upon none for beauty can never be forced into a resisting spirit.

In this training for leisure there must ever be the atmosphere of leisure. Appreciation and culture and power cannot be gained between trains. It must sleep in slowly and through the years of growth so that when maturity arrives the spirit is ready to receive it in beauty. Make a place of importance for this training in his vocation.
